"Never. Why should I?"

In teiling of meeting Dr. Roberts on the evening of the tragedy, June 20, 1917, Miss Lusk said she told him he must "teil Mrs. Roberts" and ask her for his freedom. He promised to do so that night, she testified.

The next afternoon, after having falled to keep an appointment she

She told me of a girl who had died in a second rate Waukesha boarding house as the result of an operation. She said that I would die that way, but not in Waukesha as she would drive me out of town," said Mass Lossk

She said she then called Dr. Rob-After what were the last words she remembered Mrs. Roberts saying she said the doctor's wife compared her
